After taking into account the difference in prices, this is a surprising result. In 2013 the Poles earn on average 5% more than the Portuguese. In 2011 Quality of Life Index has placed Poland at a higher place than Portugal.
... ok, I think it is enough of statistics, now let me show you my personal observations!

DRINKS...
YOU GO WITH FRIENDS FOR A COFFEE, WE GO FOR A BEER...
If not beer then vodka...

If not coffee then wine...
In Poland I used to collect mushrooms
In Portugal I collected mussels
Enough about food! Now let’s see what about people’s mentality...
Although in Poland it is much colder, we don’t use jumpers on things.
TRAFFIC...
In Portugal, you go mostly through one-way streets
Of course, if you can go at all...
...bus trips, so emotional that people cannot stop screaming
In Portugal it doesn’t really matter if it is green or red light
Portugal pays big attention to recycling in an aim to care about the environment
But on the other hand, only in Portugal are shop assistants able to put every single product into separate bags.
And where is your Mediterranean climate?!
THANK YOU!
